Cooler Weather --Not Neighbors May Nip Nudism

EVANSDALE (UP) — The change to fall weather probably will nip Chester Froit's "back-yard" nudism quicker than the protests of his irate neighbors.

A cool September breeze kept temperatures in the 60s Wednesday and Froit conceded he and his family soon will have to practice nudism indoors, for a while.

But he insisted he would not stop practicing nudism despite the protests of his neighbors.

Froit said his family would continue to "mind its own business and hope others would do the same."

One group of residents of this Waterloo suburb has petitioned the city council to stop the "nuisance" of the family's nudism. It exposed the community to "ridicule and adverse criticism," they contended.

City officials said they would look into the possibility of proceeding with a criminal action under the Iowa law dealing with indecent exposure.

Froit said, however, no exposure was involved since there was a high board fence around his back yard. But he said, "If someone climbed a tree or stood on top of his house, I imagine he could see us."

He said the family hadn't been out in the yard as much lately because of the cool temperatures. But, he said, cool weather doesn't stop the practice of nudism.

"Nudism is a way of life and the true nudist will practice it inside his home in cool weather and outside when the weather will permit," he said.

Dubuque Gets New Industry

DUBUQUE — Harnischfeger Corporation of Milwaukee has purchased a 75-acre industrial site at Dubuque.

According to Henry Harnischfeger, executive vice-president, the company ultimately intends to build a plant of 300,000 square feet to house the manufacturing of electric hoists, as well as all electrical control equipment, motors and brakes for its overhead cranes and electric shovels.

Construction of initial facilities at the new site, which is situated on the Lake Peosta channel off the Mississippi river, will begin in the spring of 1958, and is expected to reach completion later in the year. Harnischfeger emphasized that the building of plant and facilities will be done in stages over a period of the next few years to effect an orderly transition for both personnel and for production planning. Personnel not desiring to move will be assimilated into other production at Milwaukee. When finally completed this new development is expected to employ from 600 to 800 workers.

The move was necessitated Harnischfeger said, "to make room for expanding production requirements of overhead cranes, excavators, and soil stabilizers which will continue to be manufactured at Milwaukee."

In addition to hoists, overhead cranes and excavators the Harnischfeger Corporation manufactures truck cranes, diesel engines, electric shovels and welding equipment, and builds pre-fabricated houses, in nine plants throughout the country and seven countries abroad.

Auditors Air Problems of Welfare Unit

DES MOINES (AP) — Three problems of the Iowa Board of Social Welfare were pointed up again Thursday in a report to State Auditor C. B. Akers. But no recommendations were made for solving them.

M. B. Bolsem, superintendent of state agency audits in Akers' office, listed the problems in an audit of the board for fiscal 1956.

Excessive Fees.

"In previous reports," the report to Akers said, "we have called attention to the excessive fees charged by some attorneys and administrators for probating estates of old age assistance recipients.

"Also, we have called attention to undue delay in closing some of these estates. These practices continue to be a problem."

The report also cited amounts due the board from Monroe county as its share of aid to the blind and aid to dependent children payments made since 1949. The total was $24,174.

Referring to closing estates of old age assistance recipients so that the state can collect amounts due it for aid given, the report said:

"In December of 1955 the Iowa Executive Council authorized hiring on a trial basis temporary assistant attorneys general to expedite the closing of old estates. Soon afterward, eight special assistants were assigned 35 pending cases.

"As of Dec. 31, 1956, there had been 12 cases closed and 23 still were pending."

As to the amount due from Monroe county, the report said that also in December of 1955 the council authorized the attorney general to employ a special assistant, and a new suit against the county and its board of supervisors was instituted in April of 1956.

"The suit still is pending," the report said.

Statistical Report.

The statistical phase of the report for the year ended June 30, 1956, showed:

Old age assistance — Receipts included $13,425,000 from a state appropriation and $16,087,056 from the federal government, which along with other miscellaneous receipts totaled $30,-959,151. Expenditures amounted to $31,209,434. The balance at the end of the year was $3,604,834.

Aid to the blind — Receipts, $450,000 in a state appropriation, $623,515 from the federal government, $343,499 from the counties, and other small receipts for a total of $1,441,638. Expenditures, $1,444,629. Balance, $116,-212.

Aid to dependent children—State appropriation, $2,400,000; federal government, $4,823,766; counties $2,044,956; other small receipts for a total of $9,340,577. Expenditures, $9,231,981. Balance, $321,237.

The board also administers child welfare and emergency relief programs, and distributes federal government surplus food commodities to assistance recipients and the unemployed.

Council Denies Walkway Waiver

Turning down a sidewalk waiver request, the city council Thursday stuck to its policy of requiring sidewalk installation according to ordinance in all new plats.

The latest request to omit walkways was filed by Orville L. Lafferty. His petition contended that a sidewalk along three lots would run into a back yard and do no one any good on Council street NE at Fortieth street.

In denying the waiver, council members stressed the possibility that future development might make sidewalks necessary to keep children off the street in an area near Wright school.

"We have to start some place," Public Improvements Commissioner Swede Halvorson said, "and the place to start is with developers."

"With three lots of sidewalk," Parks Commissioner Don Gardner added, "we're that far ahead."

and making better use of present rooms, he added, the project also will curb any necessity for moving the municipal courtroom out of the police station.

There had been talk in the past that a separate municipal court building might be needed because of inadequate space within the building for police functions.

Funds for the estimated $20-$25,000 project were earmarked as a capital improvements item in the police department's 1958 budget. All work will be within the confines of the present building.

City council members gave an informal go-ahead to the proposal at an unofficial session following Thursday's regular meeting.

Underpass Idea On First Avenue To Be Studied

The pedestrian underpass proposal for First avenue E by the Linn County Democratic central committee was taken under study Thursday by Cedar Rapids' city council.

Committee Spokesman Robert Wilson presented it to city officials, urging that they give serious consideration to the project at Thompson drive SE as a safety measure for students approaching Washington high school.

Councilmen placed the resolution on file without comment.

Later, Safety Commissioner Bob Johnson said that underpass, traffic and pedestrian problems in the Washington area would be discussed Thursday afternoon at a meeting among himself, the police chief and traffic captain.

The feasibility of an underpass will have to be determined, he said, suggesting that an overpass might prove to be more feasible.

"There's an urgent need for more sidewalks in areas where children are going to and from school," Johnson said, "particularly in areas where high school and junior high school students have cars."

The Democratic committee's resolution said an underpass on First avenue at the school's main approach from the west would provide safe access and would still permit a free and easy flow of traffic.

failed to return today, begging "a sore throat."

In Montgomery, Ala., still strictly segregated, the effigy of a Negro, with a rope around the neck, was found on a school yard Wednesday night.

At Arlington, Va., five Negroes were turned away Thursday when they applied for admission to two all-white schools. An orderly crowd of about 300 white pupils watched the incident.

Dallas Situation.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell Thursday ordered Dallas public schools to start integration at mid-term after the Christmas holidays.

The Dallas school system Wednesday started its present term on a segregated basis.

Judge Atwell previously had ruled the Dallas school district should be allowed more time to study the problems of desegregation.

Recently the Fifth circuit court of appeals in New Orleans reversed Judge Atwell's earlier ruling. The New Orleans court at that time ordered the Dallas schools to integrate "with all deliberate speed."

Jeanne Crain and Mate Facing Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $95,-000 damage suit was filed Wednesday against Actress Jeanne Crain and her husband by an advertising man who claims he was beaten Christmas day.

Timothy Ryan, 38, brought the action, but his complaint offered no details. A police report Christmas day said he complained that Paul Brinkman, Miss Crain's husband, struck him.

Last February Brinkman was acquitted of a battery charge stemming from the incident.

Cuban Naval Units Fight For Rebels

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban naval units, joining maritime police and partisans of Rebel Leader Fidel Castro, were reported Thursday to have attacked and captured the police headquarters in the city of Cienfugos.

Telephone reports to Havana said fighting broke out in Cienfugos shortly after dawn and was continuing.

Supporters of Castro were said to be thronging the streets shouting "President Batista has fallen," "Government has been taken over by military junta headed by Castro's men."

Chief Seized.

Reports from Cienfugos said Police Chief Antonio Ruiz Beltron had refused to surrender his headquarters and ordered police to resist. They added that he was later seized by the rebels and his headquarters surrounded.

Cuban army troops stationed in Cienfugos have made no move to intervene.

An aide to the army commander was reported killed in early shooting.

Cienfugos' banks and most business establishments were closed. One Cuban there said, "All authority has broken down."

A navy plane was circling the city. Navy headquarters in Havana said it had no information of any outbreak in Cienfugos.

Cienfugos, a city of 60,000, lies about 200 miles southeast of Havana and is a big port for shipping sugar.

Three men were killed and three wounded Thursday in a running gunfight between police and suspected terrorists in a Havana residential district.

At least 18 bombs have exploded in Cuba in the last 24 hours, 11 of them in Havana. The bombings coincided with Cuba's celebration of Armed Forces day.

New Lead in Bacher Slaying Is Checked

DAVENPORT (AP) — Police Chief Harvey Smith Thursday said Davenport detectives are checking a new lead in the two-year-old slaying of Lucille Bacher. The lead involves two men being held in Alabama on a murder charge.

Smith, said one of the men, Cecil L. Tiner, has admitted the burglary of two Geisman stores in the Quad Cities and the second man, William Able, may be involved.

The two men are being questioned by Alabama authorities about the Bacher case because they have been suspected of narcotic activity. Mrs. Bacher was slain and her husband injured in a robbery in which narcotics were stolen from the Bacher drug store.
