Says NATO Now Ready On France

By David Mason BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Rusk said Saturday France's NATO partners are ready to take the "hard decisions" needed to keep the Atlantic Alliance vital after French military withdrawal.

No Veto He said this was because De Gaulle would no longer be able to veto new ideas as he claimed France had done for the last several years.

In Three Weeks Rusk flew in from a Scandinavian tour for the ministerial conference of the 15 NATO allies this week. De Gaulle is withdrawing his remaining forces in a little more than three weeks, but insists he will remain a political member of the alliance as distinct from its military arm.

That Would Be Happy Solution JAKARTA (AP) — The Indonesian Herald had this suggestion Saturday in the space race: "We suggest the Americans only send males to the moon and the Russians only females, or the reverse. That will solve a lot of problems."

Mrs. Knopf Dies NEW YORK (AP) — Blanche Wolf Knopf, 71, wife of publisher Alfred Knopf, died Saturday at her midtown Manhattan home.

Low on Fuel, Gemini 9 in Silent Drift

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — Gemini 9 drifted silently across the heavens Saturday night, low on fuel and luck as its two weary astronauts took a 10-hour rest before pilot Eugene Cernan's elaborate walk in space today.

The spacemen got too "bushed" to begin the rigorous jaunt—man's longest and most exotic—as planned Saturday. Cernan and Command Pilot Thomas Stafford abandoned all hope of ever linking Gemini 9's nose with their "angry alligator" rendezvous target, one of the original goals of the troubled flight.

But they did manage to complete successfully all three planned searches and rendezvous with a stubby, barrel-like target satellite. Sleepy-eyed and tired, the Gemini space twins then asked that Cernan's cosmic stroll be postponed a day.

A lean, 32-year-old rookie astronaut on his maiden orbital voyage, Cernan plans to embark on a 2½-hour promenade through the skies this morning, whipping nearly twice around the world at 17,500 miles an hour.

But, flight controllers said, if something happens the walk doesn't come, they have no plans of extending the already troubled flight; to squeeze it in, Gemini 9 has barely enough fuel to complete a three-day journey.

When mission directors discovered the two were tired, they kept the work load to a minimum, giving Stafford and Cernan a chance for a 2½-hour nap.

To relieve some of the tension, they took time out to hear some baseball scores. However, Cernan didn't particularly like what he heard; both his favorite teams lost.

This was the final communication to the spacecraft from the Hawaiian tracking station before the pilots powered down for sleep.

"This'll be about all the air to ground conversations we'll have with you for a while and, uh, we won't be calling you any more for some time unless there is something comes up we need you for."

The astronauts answered: "Okay, thank you very much."

He noted that 20 million Americans were of African descent "from the same cultural and racial origins as most of you." The welcome took more than an hour. It began as soon as the party stepped off the plane.

ON GUARD IN VIETNAM — An air force sentry and his German Shepherd dog watch a U.S. F-4C Phantom jet take off at the Cam Ranh Bay air base northeast of Saigon in Vietnam. After darkness falls, handler-sentry dog teams take up positions ringing air bases to guard against Viet Cong infiltration.

Bobby Is Carried On Shoulders of African Greeters

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Senator Robert Kennedy (D-N.Y.), warned student welcomers "we shall not always agree" as he began his bitterly controversial speaking tour of white supremacist South Africa Saturday night.

Carried to an airport platform on the shoulders of cheering youngsters, he plunged right into the reason for his student-sponsored visit.

"To exchange opinions on what we together can do to meet the challenge of our times. "What is important is that we frankly discuss the problems and prospects, the hopes and hazards, which we share as inhabitants of the globe."

There were no Africans in the welcoming throng, but Kennedy referred directly to the fact that they make up the overwhelming majority of this country's population.

Govt. Moves To Keep Lid On Vietnam Political Pot

SAIGON (AP) — The military government, at least outwardly little impressed by a wave of Buddhist fire suicides, took fresh action Saturday to keep the lid on South Vietnam's simmering political pot.

A convoy of armored personnel carriers and about 500 infantrymen poured into Hue to reinforce patrols set up by Vietnamese First division troops and a U.S. spokesman said "the crisis is over" in that major spawning ground of the antigovernment revolt. A Hue student leader called on his followers to surrender their weapons.

In addition, the defense department issued a warning to all Vietnamese youths exempted from the draft on educational grounds that students taking part in antigovernment demonstrations or other political activity henceforth will be conscripted for front-line duty.

Say Abandoned Car not the One In Lipsius Killing

STRAWBERRY POINT—Federal and state investigators said Saturday night that an abandoned stolen car found on a farm near here was not the one used in the May 16 murder of Iowa City Grocer Ronald Lipsius.

Clayton County Sheriff Milton Klunk told The Gazette that the car found abandoned on the George Schuchmann farm three miles west of Strawberry Point was stolen May 29 from a parking lot in Mabel, Minn.

Sheriff Klunk said both the FBI and the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation concluded that the car is not the one used in the Iowa City slaying.

Two Buddhist nuns and a novice monk set themselves afire and burned themselves to death Saturday to protest Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime, raising the total of the week to nine.

Swallowed Xylophone Stick But Boy, 10, Told No One

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — This is the story of 10-year-old Bradley Mitchell who swallowed a xylophone stick and kept it to himself.

His mother, Mrs. Kenton Mitchell of South Unity, said Bradley swallowed the five-inch stick with a rubber ball on one end about May 21, but told no one about it.

Bradley "never complains," she said, but he started walking "funny." Mrs. Mitchell said her son

2-Ft. June Snow Spilled On Montana

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Winter gripped northwestern Montana's Glacier park region Saturday as a June snowstorm struck, dumping up to two feet of snow in the scenic mountainous region.

Wet snow closed highways and knocked down utility poles. Leafed-out birch and aspen trees broke under the weight of the white cover.

Going-to-the-Sun hiway across Glacier National park was closed at Logan pass and Park Supt. Keith Neilson said through traffic may not be permitted until early next week.

Officials evacuated avalanche campground due to heavy snow.

Traffic Moves U.S. Highway 2, which skirts the park's southern border had about a foot of wet snow, although traffic kept moving.

Newspaper Publisher Mel Ruder of Columbia Falls, Mont., toured the snow country and said between 25 and 40 utility poles were down along U.S. 2 from Hungry Horse to Essex.

Electricity at West Glacier was off from 11:30 p.m. Friday night until 9 a.m. Saturday.

U.S. Highway 2 near Nyack was closed for a time during the night by downed trees and power poles. The route was opened at 7:30 a.m.

Manager Joe Heigeson of Flathead Electric Co. estimated "damage to service lines at more than $50,000."

Little Travel Only emergency travel was recommended for U.S. 89 east of the park from Browning north through St. Mary's and Babb to the Canadian line, Montana department reported.

At Kalispell, 2.15 of an inch of moisture was recorded in 24 hours.

Heavy rains fell in other parts of Montana. The lightest amount, eight-hundredths of an inch, wet parched range, in southwestern Montana.

The rain provided relief for forest fire fighters. The fire danger in the forests has been equal to hot July levels.

Given Live Cow On Retirement LONDON (AP) — Some men get a gold watch when they retire. Not Albert Short. He already had a gold watch.

So when he retired Friday his fellow workers presented him with a retirement gift that moos—a real live cow.

Albert, 60, a district engineer with the metropolitan water board, said he couldn't have had a better retirement present.

Attorney Dies ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — Wellington Rankin, 81, Helena attorney, prominent Republican and wealthy ranch and real estate operator, died here Saturday.

Happy Hunt Trip Ended In Tragedy

HOMESTEAD — What started out as a happy outing Saturday for a Cedar Rapids man and his step-son ended in tragedy.

Clifford Vogt, 48, of 950 Twentieth avenue SW, and his step-son, Ricky Lyman, 13, were found shot to death shortly before noon Saturday.

Iowa county officials reconstructed the tragedy, which occurred on a farm the father had been operating 2½ miles southwest of here.

Vogt and his step-son were going out to the farm to shoot pigeons. Vogt apparently informed his father, Edward, of Homestead, of their plans, and then left for the farm.

About 10:30 a.m., the .410 shotgun being carried by the father accidentally discharged, wounding the boy fatally in the back.

Becoming very disturbed, authorities said, Vogt then went to a nearby garage and shot himself in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun.

The self-inflicted wound apparently did not kill Vogt, so he walked 100 feet back to his step-son's side, took the other weapon, and shot himself in the heart.

Iowa county officials said Vogt and his step-son were very close. Vogt married the boy's mother last November, and had moved to Cedar Rapids at that time.

The bodies were found by the elder Vogt, who owns the farm.

Representatives of the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation were at the farm Saturday afternoon to recheck circumstances surrounding the shooting. An autopsy was also conducted Saturday afternoon.

Services for both Clifford Vogt and Richard Lyman will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran church in Homestead. The McSwiggan and Uhlmann funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Reds Tell How Balaguer Won

MOSCOW (AP) — From the Soviet view, conservative Joaquin Balaguer won the presidential election in the Dominican Republic Wednesday because the balloting was carried out "under the guns of the American occupationists disguised as an 'inter-American armed force'."

Maybe He'll Still Realize Dream

By Stratton Douthat HURRICANE, W. Va. (AP) — A year ago, David Ball would have been on the platform playing the trumpet with the Hurricane high school band. But Saturday he was in the audience and the concert was for him.

David, a lanky 17-year-old, no longer plays the trumpet. He's partially paralyzed arms won't permit him to hold the instrument.

He watched the concert while sitting in a wheel chair, his constant companion since he was paralyzed from the neck down last summer in a swimming accident.

David spent most of the past year in hospitals undergoing treatment for his spinal injury. He is beginning to respond and recently regained partial use of both arms.

He didn't give up during the long days in the hospital. He was too busy pursuing a dream — The dream of a college education.

As a result of his studies, David was graduated with honors last week with the rest of his high school class. He hopes to attend Morris Harvey college in nearby Charleston, a school with facilities for the handicapped.

The people in this small farming community are interested in David's dream. They recently established the David Ball Fund in an effort to see the dream materialize.

The people behind the fund are members of civic and religious organizations. Saturday's band concert and parade netted them $170 when the majorettes passed the hat.

"We have various activities planned for the rest of the summer." Peak said the David Ball Fund will attempt to reach its goal of $8,000 through door-to-door solicitation, bake sales and similar enterprises.

David, the son of Gilbert Ball, a Putnam county sanitation department employee, was at band camp last summer when he was injured.

"It's sad to see him now and remember how he used to be," Peak said. "But he's coming along. He's trying hard and he's got a lot of guts."

The suicides reflect disarray and confusion among the Buddhists, and hierarchy leaders have called repeatedly for an end to the self-sacrifices. The country seems to accept them without much visible motion.
