U.S. CONGO AID STIRS CRITICS IN CONGRESS

Reveal We Rejected Nigeria Plea

Belgian sources say a U.S. Air Force plane will try today to rescue a group of white hostages from a band of mercenaries at a Congo airport. PAGE 2.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Johnson administration came in for a blistering attack in Congress Monday for sending three Air Force transports and U.S. paratroopers to give logistic support to President Joseph Mobutu's Congolese government in its effort to put down a mercenary-led rebellion.

The criticism came from Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives—with most asking if this was "the first step to another Vietnam commitment."

Later Monday, the administration rejected a request for military aid to Nigeria.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the United States has "consistently pointed out to all Nigerian leaders that we regard their conflict as a purely internal matter involving only Nigerians which must be resolved by the Nigerians themselves."

Critics of the administration's Congo move included Senator Richard Russell (Dem., Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was called to explain the PLANES —

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Governor Reagan raises taxes in California $1 billion. It's a new record—and taxpayers are afraid to even think about what's on the flip side.

Congress is back from vacation. L.B.J. wants them to raise taxes and Social Security benefits. They'll settle for just raising hell with his foreign aid budget.

A Senate subcommittee will hold hearings to find out what's wrong with newspapers—as if any politician who ever lost an election doesn't know.

Expect Total Recovery for Gov. Wallace

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Doctors removed a malignant tumor from the abdomen of Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama Monday, and one doctor said "we see no cause" why she should not make a complete recovery.

The 4½ hours of exploratory surgery was performed at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. The hospital director and chief surgeon, Dr. R. Lee Clark, told newsmen later that a portion of the colon "was involved and was removed."

He said in response to questions that about 8 to 10 inches of colonic tract was taken out because of the tumor.

Local Recurrences

Clark said the doctors found "localized recurrences of her malignant tumor," but that all of them "were of the local nature and were removed."

The chief surgeon said as soon as the governor has recovered from surgery — normally, two to three weeks — she is expected to return to her home in Montgomery, Ala.

However, he said, in about two months she will return to Houston for X-ray therapy as a precautionary measure.

Clark explained that if small cells should be found at that time to show possible signs of malignancy, they can be destroyed by X-ray treatment.

The malignancy which was thought to have been halted when Mrs. Wallace underwent surgery 18 months ago came back, Clark said, because of "microscopic cells which were present and took growth on the external surface of the bowel."

If the governor remains in the hospital more than two weeks, she will have been away from Alabama longer than the 20 days specified in the state constitution.

Won't Insist

After that time, the constitution provides that the lieutenant governor shall assume the duties of governor until the chief executive returns.

However, friends of Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer have said he is unlikely to insist on taking over the office unless Mrs. Wallace's absence from the state is prolonged or unless she asks him to.

While the governor was in surgery, her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, a probable presidential candidate in next year's election, waited nervously in her second floor room, talking with their eldest daughter, Mrs. James Parsons, and close friends.

Strife-Torn Waterloo in Uneasy Calm

By Nick Lamberto
(Register Staff Writer)

WATERLOO, IA. — An uneasy truce settled over this city's race-troubled Fourth Ward late Monday in the wake of a riot that resulted in damages estimated at $5,000.

The Fourth Ward is a predominantly Negro district in the north-end business area about eight blocks from City Hall. Rioting Negroes late Sunday and early Monday smashed numerous windows, hurled rocks at vehicles and buildings, overturned at least two cars and tossed several fire bombs.

5 Arrests

Five persons were arrested for disturbing the peace. Five others were treated for cuts and bruises.

White storekeepers in the 1100 and 1200 blocks on E. Fourth street Monday swept up the debris and vowed they would protect themselves if trouble broke out again. A two-block area was littered with glass after the riot.

To forestall another outbreak, Mayor Lloyd L. Turner, after a secret meeting with Negro and

HUGHES PRAISE FOR TAX PLAN

By James Risser

Gov. Harold Hughes told members of the 1967 Iowa Legislature Monday that "you have given Iowa a tax program that is as fair to all citizens as could be devised."

The governor's strong defense of the school-aid bill and the record $102-million tax-increase bill was contained in a letter delivered to the lawmakers as they officially ended the longest legislative session in Iowa history.

Lt. Gov. Robert D. Fulton, who is president of the Senate, and Speaker of the House Maurice Baringer (Rep., Oelwein) rapped their gavels simultaneously at 4:23 p.m. to adjourn the session.

The Legislature completed its business at dawn on July 3, but final adjournment had to wait until bills passed in the closing days were typed up and other paperwork disposed of. Clocks in the two chambers were stopped early July 3 — the 175th day of the session — and were

Over a Million Autos Recalled

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — More than a million U.S. cars and 89,000 foreign cars have been recalled by manufacturers to correct defects since the auto safety law became effective last September, the Federal Highway Administration has told a House appropriations subcommittee.

William Haddon, jr., director of the safety program, said in testimony released Sunday that defective braking systems were the most common cause of recalls, accounting for 34 per cent of the total.

Nineteen per cent of the defects concerned steering systems and 14 per cent throttle linkage.

Haddon said defects were reported in 34 makes of cars, and 90 different models.

12 Russian Warships in Egypt Ports

CAIRO, EGYPT (AP) — Twelve Soviet warships steamed into Egyptian ports Monday, and a Russian admiral said the ships are "ready to cooperate with the Egyptian armed forces to repel any aggression."

Egypt's Middle East News Agency disclosed this as the United Nations Security Council in New York decided to send military observers to the Suez Canal cease-fire line. U.N. Secretary General U Thant said Egypt had agreed to accept U.N. observers on its side of the line.

In Jerusalem, it was learned that the Israeli cabinet had agreed to the U.N. proposal on observers, a decision that will be made public at the United Nations by Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who is leaving for New York today.

The Egyptian news agency said eight of the Soviet ships — a

Johnson Relaxes Riding Bicycle

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — President Johnson includes bicycle riding among the many ways he relaxes at the L.B.J. Ranch in Texas.

It's nothing new, press secretary George Christian said Monday, adding that the President "rides from time to time."

The subject came up in response to questions from reporters, who learned that the President had been bicycling during his recent 11-day stay at his Texas ranch.

Christian said bicycles at the ranch are often used by staff people as a means of transportation. And, he confirmed that the President does indulge in this pastime as well.

PARATROOPS DIE IN N. VIET CROSS FIRE

Heavy Toll From Enemy Mortars

SAIGON, SOUTH VIETNAM (AP) — An elite force of North Vietnamese regulars trapped two U.S. paratroop companies in a cross fire of mortar and automatic weapons fire Monday night in the central highlands, killing 26 Americans and wounding 38.

Headquarters said two companies of the 173rd Airborne Brigade — about 300 men — were hit by a well-entrenched enemy force near Dak To, about 275 miles north of Saigon.

The American paratroopers killed six of the North Vietnamese force, which U.S. headquarters said may have been elements of a crack new division that U.S. intelligence reports stated have infiltrated the central highlands from Laos.

Headquarters said that the elite North Vietnamese troops were equipped with AK-47 automatic assault guns and semiautomatic carbines.

Spokesmen said the battle started about 4 p.m. and broke off two hours later when the enemy force withdrew toward the Laos frontier.

In another battle Monday night, the South Vietnamese claimed a major victory over a large Viet Cong force in Binh Long Province 60 miles north of Saigon, where they said 150 of the Viet Cong were killed. South Vietnamese casualties were termed moderate.

Bomber Raids

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, only minor ground skirmishes were reported, but U.S. B-52 bombers mounted three raids against enemy positions.

Two of the raids hit at troop concentrations in the central highlands southwest of Pleiku City and the third struck at a base camp and bunker complex 21 miles southwest of Hue in the northern end of the country.

In the air offensive Monday over North Vietnam, U.S. Air Force bombers pounded an army barracks compound and rail facilities north of Hanoi while carrier-based Navy planes struck at an oil depot and a rail bridge northwest of the port city of Haiphong.

Bee-Leagued

Traffic was blocked for 45 minutes at Sixth avenue and Walnut street during the height of the evening rush hour Monday while police tried to get rid of a swarm of bees.

The swarm, estimated very unofficially and from some distance away at 3,000 bees, alighted on the sidewalk marquee of Helzberg's Jewelry Store, 523 Walnut st.

While pedestrians rapidly cleared the area, police tried to contact an apiarist. When they were unsuccessful, be-leaguered Helzberg officials summoned an exterminator.

Police blocked traffic from the busy intersection while the bees were sprayed. Some apparently escaped and were reported several hours later swarming around a traffic light.

SIX UNSOLVED MURDERS HERE

There have been six unsolved murder cases in the Des Moines area dating back to 1951.

Two of the crimes occurred within a month of each other in the spring of 1965. They are the stabbing deaths of a 17-year-old Des Moines high school girl, Janice Snow, and of a 57-year-old Guthrie Center woman, Mrs. Lillian Elizabeth Randolph.

Janice's body was discovered in a wooded area in northeast Des Moines on Apr. 15, 1965. She had been stabbed 17 times.

The Tech High School junior was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill M. Snow of 3843 Leyden ave. Although Des Moines police have questioned more than 1,000 persons in connection with Janice's death, the murder remains a mystery.

In Car Trunk

Less than four weeks later, on May 11, state authorities found Mrs. Randolph's body stuffed in the trunk of her car at the Des Moines Municipal Airport. She had been stabbed 13 times in the chest.

Police were never able to find the murder weapon, determine where Mrs. Randolph had been murdered, or establish a definite motive.

Other unsolved cases include two knifings and two shootings. On the morning of Apr. 22, 1962, the body of 26-year-old Ramona Cox was found in her first-floor apartment at 1526 Woodland ave. The Des Moines secretary had been slashed across the throat with a linoleum knife.

An 18-year-old neighbor and two girls told police they saw a man leap from the apartment and flee into the darkness. Police questioned more than 3,000 persons but have not found the killer.

George H. Geary, 40, was found shot to death at his M & H service station at Keosauqua way and Crocker street on Jan. 13, 1963. A total of $252.15 had been stolen from the cash register at the station.

Stabbed 30 Times

On Mar. 12, 1953, the body of another service station operator, Earl McMurry, 64, was discovered in the washroom of his Superior Oil Co. station at 2823 Sixth ave. He had been stabbed 30 times. Police reported $1,500 missing from the cash drawer.

Another unsolved murder was that of a Ruan Cab driver, Leon Groves, 40. His body was found on the floor of his taxicab in a ditch at S. E. Eighteenth street and Scott avenue on Dec. 2, 1951.

He had been shot three times and his billfold was missing.

Typical July Weather Back

Iowa weather returned to normal Monday, after an unusually comfortable early July. With the renowned mid-July coming on, temperatures climbed toward 90, humidity reached the wilting point and breezes slowed to feeble flutters.

In Des Moines the "apparent high temperature" was 95½, but the Weather Bureau insisted that actually it was only 88.

A YOUNG MAN IN BLACK CAR SEEN AT HOME

Victim Found After He Drove Away

By James Beaumont

Police investigating the murder of an attractive north Des Moines housewife Monday night centered their search on a young man who was seen to park a black car near the victim's house shortly before the slaying.

Mrs. Leota Camp, 25, mother of three, was found dying on a bed in her neat, tree-shaded home at 3213 Flemming ave., shortly after noon.

A neighbor told police the young man parked his car — she thought it might have been a Ford Mustang — with louvers behind the doors — about a house and a half away from the Camp home about 11 a.m., cut diagonally across the Camp front yard and entered the home.

Another neighbor saw him leave the house a few minutes before noon, walk to the car and drive off.

Stockily Built

Police described him as "white, about 20 to 21 years old, about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, stockily built and wearing a brown and white plaid shirt and blue jeans."

One question puzzling police was: Did Mrs. Camp know her slayer? From the neighbors' descriptions it might seem that she did.

Flemming avenue is an out-of-the-way street of well-kept single-family homes between Thirtieth street on the east and Lower Beaver road on the west. It is about five blocks south of Aurora avenue and about four blocks north of Veterans Hospital.

Few people drive down the street who don't live there. Most of the families are young; their children play in the street and the spacious lawns.

Mrs. Camp lived with her husband, Raymond, 25, and their three young children in a neat, one-story home with blue-gray asbestos siding. The children are Kevin, 4; Brenda, 3; and Christine, three months.

Large oak and hickory trees shade the house.

Run to Neighbor

The neighborhood was unaware anything unusual had happened until the two older Camp children went crying to the home of Mrs. Mary Groe, 3209 Flemming and told her, "Mommy's bleeding."

What Mrs. Groe found shattered the neighborhood tranquility. She ran to the Camp home, saw Mrs. Camp on the bed, rushed out and called Mrs. Nelle Edwards of 3217 Flemming, the neighbor to the west

Plan Tax Probe Of Farm Bureau

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — Representative Joseph Y. Resnick (Dem., N.Y.) said Monday that the Internal Revenue Service has promised to investigate the tax-exempt status of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The promise, Resnick said, was made in a letter from Sheldon S. Cohen, federal tax commissioner.

Resnick requested the investigation after charging that the bureau, while claiming to be mainly an agricultural organization, is exempt from paying taxes on a lucrative insurance business. He said the organization earned $574,241 last year on its insurance operations but paid no taxes.

Resnick said he would demand a complete investigation of all of the bureau's activities, including its earnings from shopping centers, grain elevators and warehouses and farm implement sales.

of the Camps, who was in her front yard at the time.

"Come quick, something terrible has happened in Leota," Mrs. Groe cried.

Both women ran to the Camp home and Mrs. Edwards went into the bedroom and untied her.

The young mother was lying face down on the bed in the front bedroom her arms crossed and tied behind her back with a necktie. Neckties also bound her neck and ankles and a necktie was stuffed in her mouth as a gag.

A blood-stained six-inch kitchen knife was on the bed beside her.

"She just moaned," Mrs. Edwards said. "I asked her questions but she couldn't answer."

Baby on Floor

Christine, the baby, was on a white blanket on the floor of the living room, nursing a warm bottle of milk.

Mrs. Groe and Max Gosselink, a nephew of Mrs. Edwards, called police and an ambulance.

A Fire Department rescue squad administered artificial respiration for seven minutes on the way to Broadlawn Polk County Hospital but Mrs. Camp was pronounced dead on arrival.

Dr. Leo Luka, Polk County medical examiner, said Mrs. Camp had been stabbed four times in the back, the wounds penetrating her lungs.

She died of internal hemorrhaging, he said.

There was no evidence she had been raped, Dr. Luka said.

Raymond Camp Works for State

Her body was fully clothed in blouse and skirt.

Police Capt. Cleatus Leaming, chief of detectives, said police found the Camps' home unlocked and that there was no sign of forced entry.

It was a hot, muggy morning and most people had their homes open for air.

Leaming said the two older Camp children apparently

Her husband, Raymond, was at work as a tabulating equipment operator for the Iowa Employment Security Commission office here. Police summoned him home.

Bid $10,000 on W.D.M. Culvert

Pyland Construction Co., of Des Moines submitted the apparent low bid of $10,000 to the West Des Moines City Council Monday night for construction of a culvert on Twenty-second street.

The council referred the bids to the city engineer. The contract is to be awarded next Monday. The culvert would correct a water problem that is causing washouts beneath Twenty-second street.

No Prompt Phone-Rate Cut Seen

By Ed Heins

The Iowa Commerce Commission doesn't plan any immediate move to seek lower telephone rates for Iowa customers served by the Bell System, Commission Chairman Dick A. Witt said.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. had an 8.1 per cent rate of return on its Iowa plant investment during 1965, well above the earnings rate the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) recently set for American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The FCC said A.T. & T. was entitled to an over-all earnings rate of 7 to 7.5 per cent. Northwestern Bell is one of 23 operating companies which make up the Bell System in the U.S.

The FCC has regulatory responsibility over the A.T. & T. parent company, its manufacturing and research subsidiaries and of the Bell System's interstate or long-lines department. Local state regulatory agencies, such as the Iowa Commerce Commission, have responsibilities to set rates and service requirements for intra-state operations of the telephone company.

In its decision last week, the FCC told A.T. & T. to cut its interstate charges by $120 million annually. There was no indication how these cuts would be reflected but they usually show up as cuts in long-distance rates.

Could Order Reductions

If a state commission should determine the intra-state operations of the Bell System had excessive earnings, it could order decreases in basic phone charges or in intra-state phone call rates.

Chairman Witt of the Iowa commission said no action can be started against Northwestern Bell until the state agency completes its first major rate case now in progress.

The decision in the rate case involving the Davenport Water Co. is expected to set the pattern for future rate regulation. It will develop the rate-making philosophy of the commission as well as set the ground rules on which the complicated business of regulating utilities is based.

A decision in the water company rate isn't expected until late this fall. Additional testimony still must be heard and both sides will be given a chance to enter rebuttal testimony during a September hearing.

However, the commission plans to have its staff analyze the FCC report on the Bell System to determine how the decision will apply to intra-state regulation. The Iowa Commission helped to finance the gathering of some testimony heard in the 20-month FCC investigation.

Witt's View

Witt said, "We have to realize that the top federal agency in the regulatory field has been heard. To say that what the FCC said would have no effect on state regulation would be to hide your face in the sand."

Bell System officials said they were "most disappointed" by the FCC decision. The company had contended, during the long and detailed hearing, that it needed an 8 per cent rate of return on its plant investment to finance its extensive modernization program and earn an "adequate" profit.

In regulated industries, the earnings are usually designated as a per cent of the firm's plant investment. In the case of A.T. & T., the plant investment was valued at $35 billion.

Northwestern Bell earned 7.7 per cent on its plant investment in its five-state Midwest service area during 1965. The area includes Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and North and South Dakota.

The Iowa earnings rate (8.1 per cent) was substantially higher than the over-all A.T. & T. return of 7.5 per cent and one of the highest for any state in the Bell System. The state-by-state earnings ranged from 6.8 per cent in Texas, which has no state regulatory agency, to 6.2 in California.

Contested Case

Any determined effort by the Iowa regulatory agency to get a substantial reduction in intra-state rates undoubtedly would result in a contested rate case.

The cost of a rate case against Northwestern Bell would be high. The Davenport Water Co., with a plant investment of slightly over $10 million, is spending more than $100,000 in seeking a rate increase from the commission.

Northwestern Bell, with a much larger plant in Iowa, would be expected to put up vigorous opposition to any bid to cut sharply its earnings on its Iowa property.

Playhouse Opens For Reservations

The box office at the Des Moines Community Playhouse now is open for reservations by telephone and mail for "A Thousand Clowns," the final production of the 1966-67 season. Box office hours are 1 to 8 p.m. daily.

The comedy by Herb Gardner opens Friday, with performances nightly through July 22 except Monday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 8 o'clock other nights.

KUBBY TO RUN FOR D.M. JUDGE

Des Moines attorney Ben E. Kubby announced his candidacy Monday for Municipal Court judge in the November city election.

Kubby, 63, of 1800 Watrous ave., said: "I am throwing my hat into the ring early in order to conduct a vigorous campaign. I want every voter to be aware of my progressive platform."

BEN E. KUBBY

He said he advocates a "group-therapy program for young criminals. A program similar in principle to Alcoholics Anonymous, in my opinion would be a strong deterrent."

Kubby, an unsuccessful candidate for Municipal Court judge in 1963, said programs that he campaigned for at that time—appointment of attorneys for indigent defendants before indictment and pre-trial release of certain defendants on their own bond—have been adopted by the present judges.

Kubby, a native of Omaha, Neb., and a graduate of Creighton University School of Law there, has practiced law in Des Moines for 22 years. He is legal adviser for the union rehabilitation project of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., state president of Modern Woodmen of America, past state president of the Knights of Pythias and a member of the National Council on Crime Prevention.

The four-year terms of all four present judges expire this year. They are Ray Harrison, Harry B. Grund, Luther T. Glanton, Jr., and Howard Brooks.

Drake's 'Ondine' Opening Tonight

Twenty-one Drake University students have been cast in a production of "Ondine," a romantic fantasy written by Jean Giraudoux. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. today and Wednesday in the Drake auditorium. The public is invited, admission free. The play is directed by William S. E. Coleman, director of the Drake theater.

Victim's Children, Neighbors

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Camp are shown with two neighbors who were summoned to the Camp home by Brenda, 3, and Kevin, 4, who reported that their "Mommy's bleeding." Driver's Choice: Just a Little $200 or 20 Days Off the Top

James Jacob Kane, 49, who gave his address as 2507 Williams st., was fined $200 or 20 days in jail by Municipal Judge Ray Harrison Monday for driving while his license was suspended.

He was given until Aug. 10 to pay the fine or begin serving the sentence. He was charged June 10.

Des Moines barbers held the first of what they hope will become an annual hairstyling contest Sunday afternoon at Hotel Savery.

Such contests have been held for years for women. It was the first time male customers have been so treated.

Pointed Gun

James Russell Porter, 20, who gave his address as 3817 Sixty-sixth st., was fined $50 by Municipal Judge Harry Grund Monday for pointing a gun at another person.

Police said he pointed a gun at a passer-by as he drove along E. Fourteenth street on July 1. A charge of not having an Iowa driver's license, which was filed at the same time, was dismissed because Porter does have a valid license.

All the barbers were members of Journeymen's Local 43. The winners will represent the local in the state competition in September. An international contest will be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in October.

Parsons' Frustrating Day in Court

By James Flansburg (Register Staff Writer)

CHICAGO, ILL.—The suit by Parsons College to prevent revocation of its academic accreditation began its third week here Monday with an afternoon of non-questions.

Parsons attorney G. Gale Robertson wanted to show the effect on the college if the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools revokes accreditation of the Fairfield, Ia., college.

The association has voted revocation. Parsons wants a Federal District Court injunction preventing the association from publishing it officially.

The Issues

Legally, the issues are whether the association has the right to revoke, whether it obeyed its by-laws, and whether the by-laws are legal.

Robertson, however, was not following that line and his questions, put to the college's acting president, William B. Munson, ran into almost continual objections by association attorney L. Dow Nichol, Jr.

Finally, Federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman, who sustained virtually every one of Nichols' objections, snapped:

"I don't like to sit up here and sustain these. You make it appear that I'm unfair to you."

"Some of these judgments I've been making are learned by second-year law students."

Gives Explanation

Robertson launched into an explanation:

"We wish to show you the failure of the association to give us due process; their arbitrariness."

"The college's situation is so dire and its drop in enrollment so great, causing revenue to drop so much that it may not survive."

"There are possible sums of money to tide it over—subject to accreditation."

"This is not only harming the college but also the student
