Officers Use Tear Gas

Violence Erupts at Iowa

IOWA CITY (AP) — A peaceful rally at the University of Iowa erupted into violence today as students broke through police lines and raced into the Memorial Union where Dow Chemical Co. recruiters were at work. Officers used pocket tear gas guns on a number of the demonstrators. There were unconfirmed reports that six had been arrested and several hospitalized for treatment of the effects of the gas. The demonstration began with speechmaking at a rally in front of the union, which campus police had barricaded to protect the recruiters. The crowd broke when the final speaker screamed, "Let's get them now!" witnesses said. Knots of demonstrators pushed past the police line and ran into the building while others entered through back doors and headed toward the placement offices. After police began to clear the building, the demonstrators split into three groups and began moving across the campus, diverting police forces. They carried signs reading "Down with Dow," and "Dow Shall Not Kill." The crowd of active demonstrators was estimated at 200. Officers said many were members of Students for a Democratic Society. A spokesman for the Iowa City police Department said officers from "all over eastern Iowa" had been sent to the campus. He added, "It's starting to go."

Cone Youth's Rites Pending After He Dies in Grain Bin

CONESVILLE — Funeral services are pending today at Stacy-Lewis funeral home in Columbus, Junction for Kim Lee Cunningham, 16, of Conesville, who died of suffocation in a grain bin at Brauns Feed and Grain Elevator at Conesville about 10:30 p.m. Monday. Muscatine County Sheriff Richard Oppelt said that Cunningham was working at the elevator and had climbed up a ladder to check how full the bin was when he apparently lost his balance and fell into the shelled corn, sinking to the bottom of the bin. Oppelt said it was about 15 to 20 minutes before Cunningham was missed. Boards were ripped off the bottom of the bin and the body removed. Muscatine County Medical Examiner Dr. V.W. Swayze termed the cause of death as suffocation. Cunningham was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cunningham of Conesville. His mother is bookkeeper at Brauns and his father was working at the elevator at the time of the accident.

How LBJ Views Things . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of President Johnson's news conference Monday:

Taxes-Spending—Said spending would be kept as low as possible "consistent with the security of the nation" and again expressed hope Congress would enact his bill for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Steel Prices—"We have expressed to the people in the industry our very strong-felt views" about price hikes announced by U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp. He said the administration will continue to prevail on business and labor that when "increased costs exceed increased productivity, and increased prices exceed increased costs, we have an undesirable situation."

McNamara - Cabinet — Declined further details on the pending departure of Defense

Secretary Robert S. McNamara for the presidency of the World Bank. Johnson said he does not recall that all Cabinet members, including McNamara, recently pledged to stay on through the 1968 election, as reported by columnist Joseph Alsop. And he said he has no information that any other Cabinet members are leaving "but I could conceive of Cabinet officers—one, two or more—leaving at some time under certain circumstances."

Marines—Announced his nomination of Lt. Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr. as new Marine Corps commandant, succeeding retiring Gen. Wallace M. Greene.

McCarthy—Said Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., has a right to run against him in Democratic presidential primaries but would not comment further.

Hostages Are Freed

Minister Is A Shield To Capture Gunman

DETROIT (AP) — Two detectives hiding behind a minister seized the grieving father of a Detroit riot victim today as he emerged from the fortress home where he had held scores of police at bay for 16 hours.

Obviously worn out by the ordeal, during which he kept as many as nine persons locked in the house with him, Eugene Ector, 62, a steamfitter at Ford Motor Co., gave up after only a brief tussle.

He had emerged from the two-story frame home without either of the two guns which he had spent the night sporadically firing into floor and walls to snow, a policeman said, "he meant business."

No one was injured in the seige that apparently resulted from a drunken spree fueled by an argument with a girl friend and grief over the loss of a son, one of 43 people who were killed during the racial riot that swept Detroit last July.

"We want him examined," said Police inspector Charles Gentry as Ector was hustled to a squad car and taken to a hospital.

No charges were filed immediately.

Ector had barricaded himself in the boarded, triple-padded house at 3:30 p.m. Monday with two women and three children after firing several wild shots.

Police surrounded the house while Ector first conducted a continuous stream of phone calls to friends and relatives, then refused to answer the phone for hours.

Mrs. Alice Hicks, 37, who said she was Ector's common law wife, described the entire incident as a "family argument."

She said Ector, however became enraged when police arrived "because he thought they had no right on private property."

The two detectives, who were not immediately identified, had followed the Rev. Alunzo Campbell, pastor of the Ethiopian Orthodox Temple, up the steps.

Campbell said Ector had agreed to see him, but had not arranged to give himself up.

The five people whom Ector first locked inside the house with himself where Mrs. Hicks; her daughter, Joanne, 20; a son, William, 16, who is a deaf mute; another daughter, Bridgette, 5, and Joanne's son, Rodney, 2.

During the night, a daughter, Helene, in her 20s, a son, Walter, 29, another son and a son-in-law all were permitted by Ector to enter the house where they tried to talk him into coming out.

It was not immediately clear whether any or all were held against their will. The son-in-law left during the night after refusing to go along with a police suggestion that he overpower Ector.

William slipped away unnoticed, police said. Joanne and the two children left of their own accord as dawn rose over the barricaded street where scores of police in bullet-proof vests and carrying rifles and shotguns hid behind cars and in doorways. The temperature hovered around freezing.

The streets were cleared of squad cars and visible policemen after William Watson, a retired policeman, said the sight of the policemen upset Ector.

"He said they remind him of his son," said Watson, who is a Negro like all of those who were in the house.

Heart Transplant Patient On Soft Diet, Gains Ground

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The transplanted heart of a dead girl beating steadily inside him, Louis Washkansky was put on a diet of soup and a soft-boiled egg today, and one of his doctors said he is gaining ground.

"All is going as well as any open heart operation can be," said Dr. S. C. W. Bosman, heart surgery registrar at Groote Schuur Hospital, where the 55-year-old businessman received the heart of Denise Ann Darvall, 25, in a five-hour operation Sunday. The girl was killed in an auto accident.

The respirator pump that helped Washkansky breathe after the landmark surgery has been removed.

"He's breathing under his own steam now," said Dr. Jacobus Burger, medical supervisor at Groote Schuur.

Washkansky who doctors said probably would have died today or Wednesday of a deteriorating heart without the transplant, drank water, orange drink and milk Monday. He also spoke his first words since the surgery, saying, "I am feeling much better."

Heart specialists say the next crucial challenge to Washkansky should come from his body's defense mechanism against foreign objects toward the week's end.

To suppress the bodily mechanism that naturally tries to destroy foreign objects—such as Miss Darvall's heart—doctors were giving Washkansky a number of drugs. One danger is that these drugs reduce a patient's ability to combat other harmful foreign objects, such as germs.

"If the heart is rejected by the patient," said one specialist, "we are at the point of no return."

Prof. Jan. H. Louw, who supervised what is so far the first successful human heart transplant in history, said the most serious chance of the body's rejecting the heart "will come at the end of the week."

Washkansky could be kept alive by a heart-lung machine if his body rejects the girl's heart, said one specialist, but only for 24 hours at the most.

"I wish Mr. Washkansky lots of luck and hope that he will pull through," said Miss Darvall's father. He gave permission for the transplant and said he knew his daughter herself would have done so had she been conscious before she died.

2 Men Slain In Iowa Robbery

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Two men, one of them a city policeman, were slain here early today, the victims of an apparent robbery at Club 64.

They were Paul Royer, the club manager, and Patrolman John Stephens, 31, who also worked as a guard at the supper club on the outskirts of Council Bluffs.

Their bodies were found in the office of the club. Stephens' body was on a chair. He had been shot five times, investigating officers said. Royer's body was found near a desk. Officers said he had been shot once or twice.

The slayings occurred after the club, one of the most popular in the Omaha-Council Bluffs area, closed about 2 a.m.

Viet Cong Ravages Village

SAIGON (AP) — Hundreds of Viet Cong rampaged through a South Vietnamese village early today with flamethrowers and grenades, inflicting death and destruction, U.S. officials reported.

The U.S. Mission said latest reports indicated that about 20 persons were killed and 30 were wounded in Dak Song, about 130 miles northeast of Saigon.

First reports had said 300 persons were killed, which would have been the worst terrorist attack reported in the war. But Wilbur Wilson, the assistant director of U.S. civil operations in the area, said later reports indicate this figure "is much reduced."

Wilson said the latest report was about 20 dead and 30 wounded. He said 30 or 40 homes were burned down by the attackers, who were estimated to number about 400 guerrillas.

Wilson said it had not been determined yet from intelligence sources what was behind the attack. But the Viet Cong often raid villages to show that the South Vietnamese government cannot provide complete protection.

Dak Song is a "new life" hamlet, which supposedly is sufficiently protected to be free of Viet Cong terrorism.

In the air war, the U.S. Navy strengthened its arsenal of bombers striking at North Vietnam and sent a new light attack jet into action Monday for the first time.

The craft is the A7 Corsair II, which can carry 15,000 pounds of explosives while maintaining speeds of nearly 600 miles an hour. U.S. headquarters said the jets made their first combat runs against a bridge near Vinh, about 150 miles south of Hanoi.

The Corsairs 5-inch rockets heavily damaged the span, pilots returning to the carrier Ranger reported. One squadron of about 20 of the $1.4 million jets is aboard the carrier.

Overcast weather from the northeast monsoons again limited most of the 80 U.S. missions Monday to areas south of Hanoi, but radar guided Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs to at least three targets above North Vietnam's capital city.

Their targets were the Thai Nguyen railroad yards 35 miles north of Hanoi, the Yen Bai airfield and storage area 78 miles northwest of Hanoi, and surface-to-air missile sites 24 and 37 miles to the north. There was no damage assessment because of the overcast.
