

Hazleton Couple Is Saved by Dog

Special to The Gazette
HAZLETON—A rural Hazleton couple escaped from an explosion and fire-racked house early Friday with only their pajamas.
 Mr. and Mrs. Loren Berridge, both 60, credited their escape to the fact their Chihuahua, "Blondie", awakened them just before an explosion sent flames sweeping through their dwelling. The 30 by 60-foot one-story house was destroyed.

Smelled Smoke
 Mrs. Berridge said the dog jumped on her bed about 3:45 a.m. Friday, whining and wanting to go out. She said she smelled smoke as she got out of bed.
 Mrs. Berridge yelled at her husband and they were both starting for the door when an explosion ripped the attached garage and flames shot through the house.

Hazleton firemen said the blast occurred in the attached garage where the Berridge pickup was parked. The blast blew the roof off the garage and was heard one-half mile away.

The Berridges ran out of the house and were picked up by a passing trucker. They went to the Bob Kennedy farm, about a quarter-mile away.

Calls Firemen
 Meanwhile, another neighbor, Mrs. Curtis Root, heard the blast. She got up and looked out, but didn't see anything. Then she heard "popping noises" and looked out again, seeing the Berridge house in flames. She called the Hazleton fire department. Independence firemen also helped fight the blaze.

Deputy Fire Marshal Robert Smith of Vinton was to inspect the ruins of the house Friday afternoon.

Later Friday morning, the Berridges went to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Tom Michner of Oelwein. Shortly after their arrival, Michner, an Oelwein fireman, was called to an Oelwein blaze.

The Berridges also have another daughter, Mrs. Frank Dickens, living at Atkins, and a son, Robert, living in Marion.

Fire Destroys Oelwein House
Special to The Gazette
OELWEIN—Fire about 6:40 a.m. destroyed the small-frame house occupied by Victor Smith, 39, on First street SE. Smith said he was awakened by heat and flames in his bedroom. He managed to get out of the house. At the same time, a neighbor, Mrs. Scott Waller, heard what she thought was a door slamming. She looked out and saw the house on fire. She was calling the Oelwein fire department when Smith came to her house.

Firemen said a cigaret in a sofa started the blaze.

Social Change Session Saturday at Grinnell
GRINNELL—A philosopher from the University of Michigan and a community organizer from Newark, N.J., will headline an American Friends Service committee conference on "Social Change in a Revolutionary World: America '68" to be held at Grinnell college Saturday.

Arnold S. Kaufman, an associate professor of philosophy at the University of Michigan who is currently a visiting professor at the University of California at Los Angeles and Tom Hayden, an organizer of the Newark Community Union project, will speak.

A 2 p.m. panel discussion in the south lounge of the College Forum on "What Is To Be Done? The Role of the Student" will close the conference. Aim of the conference is to examine just how revolutionary the situation in the United States is today.

Nab Suspect in Slaying of Iowa Girl

CHICAGO—A Jacksonville, Fla., man has been charged with murdering a young, attractive Iowa farm girl whose body was found Thursday in a motel room in suburban Franklin Park.
 Cook county sheriff's police arrested Frederick Louis Andriess, 25, Thursday night in the lobby of O'Hare Inn where he checked in Thursday. Police said he spent Wednesday night in the Embassy motel, where he occupied the room next to the slain girl's room.

The victim was Miss Carol Sue Edleman, 21, of Webb, Iowa, who entered the motel Wednesday night with a tall, blond man who signed the register, "Jim Morton."

Struggle
 The girl's body, clad in a blue nightgown, was face up on one of two beds. She had been shot in the chest. Police said the room showed signs of a desperate struggle. Deputy Coroner Sidney Berman said the room was in such disarray that "it looked as if it had been hit by a tornado."

Miss Edleman's body was found by Jerry White, 25, of suburban Bensenville, chief engineer at the motel.

Notes and papers found in her room indicated that Miss Edleman was seeking work as an airline stewardess. She was graduated in May 1964 from South Clay Community high school near Webb, a small farming community in the northwestern part of Iowa.

Miss Edleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Edleman, said Carol Sue was the youngest of their five daughters.

Sheriff Joseph I. Woods said Andriess has a wife and two children.

Found Gun
 Cook County Sheriff Joseph I. Woods said a motel maintenance boy led investigators to Andriess.

Officials said the boy told them of finding a .38 caliber revolver in a trash can at the motel and hiding it in the garage at his home.

Woods said investigators determined that the gun was the murder weapon and was sold to Andriess by a Jacksonville gun dealer.

Officers got an automobile license tag number from Florida officials and found the car at the O'Hare Inn, 3 miles north of the Embassy.

Andriess was arrested as he sat in the lobby watching television.

Andriess told authorities he arrived in Chicago Tuesday to work for an air line at O'Hare. Miss Edleman was a student at Morningside college, Sioux City, Iowa, in 1964-66. A housemother there said she was "a nice girl . . . never caused trouble."

After leaving Morningside she worked as a telephone operator at Spencer Municipal hospital, and last August became a waitress at the Arcade Cafe in Spencer.

Salesman
 Morton, a salesman for an aviation company, left for Denver before the slaying, police said.

The attractive blonde was the third Midwest college coed to die violently in the last three months.

In February, Sheila Jean Collins, an Iowa State student from Evanston, Ill., was found strangled near the campus; last month the daughter of a Northwestern university professor, Rita Louise Letsinger, 21, was found stabbed to death near where she was attending college in California.

State Praise For Mar-Mac

Special to The Gazette
McGREGOR—The Mar-Mac school district has gotten a pat on the back from the state board of public instruction.

A report written by state consultants who recently visited the district read in part:

"We are of the opinion that there has been a noticeable improvement in the Mar-Mac Community schools over the last few years. Although the small enrollment and limited staff restricts the educational program potential, the instructional procedures and overall quality of activities for this size school are commendable."

The report also commended Supt. William J. Rettko and the school board.
