Huge New Iowa Agency Urged

Special to The Gazette

DES MOINES — The state office of planning and programming has recommended to Gov. Robert Ray that a state department of transportation, to incorporate such huge state agencies as the highway commission, be formed in the state of Iowa.

That recommendation was included in an OPP report requested by Ray one year ago. It is to be forwarded to the legislative committee discussing establishment of such a department.

The study, financed in part by a federal grant, recommended that its proposals be submitted to the second session of the 64th general assembly.

"Tooling-Up" Period

If passed, a "tooling-up" period of one year would follow, after which it would undertake the operational responsibility for the planning and development of Iowa's transportation service.

The "first generation DOT", as described by the report, would include a division of planning, a division of administration, a division of highways, a division of aviation, and a division of inter- and intra-regional transportation development.

Such an organizational structure would place the entire state highway commission and aeronautics commission into the DOT, and would also provide a place for the "planning and study of mass transportation, harbor and waterway needs and programs in Iowa."

A state DOT, according to the report, "is an organization formed to promote, plan and implement the development of an integrated transportation system of various independent modes that will provide the public with the optimum level of service, choice, mobility, convenience and safety in such a way as to positively interact with and promote the satisfaction of social, economic and environmental goals."

Informed Process

Iowa needs such a department, the study said, because it "does not have a systematic, informed process through which the state's transportation policy, programs and projects may be formulated, analyzed and evaluated."

As an example, it pointed out that such issues as the "impending abandonment of rail branch lines ... demand a thorough evaluation and planning function to ensure that Iowa does not by default experience the loss of vital service."

The "cornerstone" decision in implementation of such a department, the report said, "is the determination of the transportation functions to be assigned ... as its responsibilities."

"Many of these functions," it said, "would be transferred from existing state agencies. This would in some cases involve placing the entire agency (i.e., the highway commission) into the DOT structure and in other cases only those parts that execute a transportation function would be transferred."

Examples of the latter would be the commerce commission, with its rail responsibilities; the department of public instruction, with its driver education tasks; the Iowa Natural Resources Council, with its responsibilities in regard to pipelines, and the conservation commission, with its authority in the area of licensing vessels, engineers and pilots.

Chief Executive

A "first generation DOT" would involve a state transportation commission, candidates for which, the report said, should be drawn from those "resident" in the highway and aeronautics commissions.

It was also recommended that

Coincidence Only Link in Four Slayings

Iowa News-

At present nothing but coincidence links the recent violent slaying of four young women in Iowa, Robert Blair, director of the state bureau of criminal investigation, said Tuesday.

BCI agents have joined local authorities in investigating the deaths of Karen Streed, 21, of Cedar Rapids, Karen Ann Goers, 23, of Oskaloosa, Jeanie Marie Christensen, 18, of Storm Lake, and Maureen Farley, 17, of Cedar Rapids.

The coincidence cited by Blair involves the facts that the women were close in age, their deaths were violent, and three of the four, Miss Christensen, Miss Goers and Mrs. Farley, were waitresses.

"We have nothing either way to indicate they were done by the same person," Blair told United Press International, "and, at this point, there is no connection."

State Public Safety Commissioner Michael Sellers said BCI agents have been pulled off other cases in search of the killer or killers of the four young women.

Body Found

The body of Mrs. Streed, who had been missing since the evening of Oct. 18, was found in the old Amana mill race near West Amana Sunday evening.

Iowa County Sheriff William Spurrier said the woman died of head wounds. He said there were marks around the base of the skull and what appeared to be one heavy blow to the head. However, there appeared to be no broken bones on the rest of the body.

Spurrier was not available Tuesday for comment on persistent rumors that Mrs. Streed had been shot in the head.

UCS Campaign Reaches 20% Of Its Quota

Cedar Rapids News-

Harold A. Wendorf, UCS campaign chairman, reported Tuesday that $219,223, or 20 percent of the $1,096,116 goal, has been pledged. Reports by unit are:

Unit 1, Paul Darling, chairman, $179,847, on a quota of $857,562, or 20.9 percent.

Unit 2, Tom Parks, chairman, $8,100, on a quota of $46,812, or 17.3 percent.

Unit 3, Donald Ebinger, chairman, $1,910, on a quota of $18,235, or 10.4 percent.

Unit 4, Dennis Otting, chairman, $1,410, on a quota of $21,650, or 6.5 percent.

Unit 5, Steve Sovern, chairman, $16,800, on a quota of $130,343, or 12.8 percent.

Unit 6, Mrs. James Bowker, chairman, $9,293, on a quota of $21,514, or 43.1 percent.

Special (no quota) $1,863.

Wendorf pointed out that the campaign now is half-way through its scheduled time. The 20 percent of goal reported comes from 642, or 17.5 percent, of the 3,665 campaign calls. "We have over 80 percent of our work to do with 50 percent of our time left."

The campaign is scheduled for completion Nov. 9.

TAIWAN'S resignation from the U.N. Monday night signaled defeat for U.S. Ambassador George Bush, right, with aides, even before the formal vote on his effort to secure passage of a Two-China policy.

NATIONALIST CHINESE delegates walked out of the U.N. Monday night minutes before the General Assembly voted to oust Taiwan in favor of Mainland China.

Nationalists Out On 76 to 35 Vote

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly voted Monday night to admit Communist China to the U.N. and expel Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime in a major defeat for the U.S.

By a vote of 76 to 35, with 17 abstentions, the assembly adopted an Albanian resolution recognizing representatives of the People's Republic of China as "the only legitimate representatives of China" to the U.N. and expelling "forthwith the representatives of Chiang Kai-shek."

Earlier, the assembly voted 59 to 55, with 15 abstentions, to reject a U.S. resolution to make expulsion of the Nationalists an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority for adoption.

Allies Break

Among the U.S. allies who broke with Washington and voted against the U.S. resolution were Britain, Canada, Denmark, France, Norway and Pakistan. Belgium and Italy abstained.

As it turned out, the Albanian resolution got more than a two-thirds majority. Its adoption killed a rival U.S. resolution to provide "dual representation" for both the Communists and the Nationalists, a situation Peking said repeatedly it would not accept.

The Nationalists did not wait for the final vote. After defeat of the "important question" resolution, Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai led his delegation out, ending the Chinese Republic's 26 years as a charter member of the U.N.

Thant cabled the text to Peking as notification that the People's Republic was finally in after 22 years of trying.

From the rostrum, Vice-foreign Minister Reis Malile of Albania called the outcome "a victory for the peace-loving peoples and a great defeat for the United States of America." Sir Colin Crowe of Britain termed it a "return to reality."

U.S. Ambassador George Bush told reporters: "The U.N. has crossed a dangerous bridge, the bridge of expulsion ... I hope the U.N. will not relapse this moment of infamy."

Bush said Nationalist China would survive outside the U.N., but American public reaction would be bad and he did not know what congress would do.

But U.S. Will Abide By Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Rogers said Tuesday the expulsion of Nationalist China from the U.S. was a regrettable act that could adversely affect the future of the world body.

The secretary told newsmen the Nixon administration will, however, respect the majority decision of the U.N. in expelling the government of Taiwan.

Rogers said, "This administration deeply regrets the expulsion of the Republic of China and thinks the precedent is a most unfortunate one and will have adverse effects in the future."

He expressed hope, however, that the U.N. won't be weakened. But he pointedly told reporters the world organization faces a financial crisis which will take deep consideration by members.

While denying the Nixon administration would attempt to retaliate against the U.N. over the China question, Rogers did say the financial situation is a serious one.

There is "another problem," he said, "of whether the U.N. is living beyond its means ... I think that may be the case."

He said there are some in the senate who think the U.S. is sharing too great a burden of the U.N., which faces near bankruptcy.

Thant Issues Unity Appeal

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant Tuesday issued an extraordinary appeal for unity in a U.N. which expelled Nationalist China and was still without official confirmation from Peking that Red China had accepted its new U.N. seat.

"I solemnly appeal to all member states to leave no room for bitterness but on the contrary to abide by the decision of the General Assembly and endorse the tremendous step forward which has been taken last night," Thant said.

Kissinger Back From Red China

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Presidential Adviser Henry Kissinger returned to the U.S. Tuesday after a trip to Peking.

He and his party flew on to Washington, after their Boeing 707 was refueled, to report to President Nixon on arrangements made for the forthcoming presidential visit to mainland China.

Court Lets Pontiac Busing Plan Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court Tuesday let stand a massive busing plan for schools in Pontiac, Mich., and a finding that officials there intentionally promoted segregation.

The plan and the ruling, by U.S. District Judge Damon Keith of Detroit, had been appealed to the court by school officials with the argument that whatever segregation exists in the industrial city 25 miles northwest of Detroit is a result of housing patterns.

While Keith charged the school board with locating new schools and arranging boundaries in such a way as to perpetuate segregation, school officials told the court that they had tried to reduce racial imbalance even amid shifting populations.

The justices voted unanimously.

Eastern Iowans Back I-380 Northern Route

By Dennis Bates

OELWEIN — Another storm appears to be brewing for the Iowa highway commission.

At its last meeting, the commission suggested three possible routes for I-380 between Cedar Rapids and Waterloo. Two of the routes follow a diagonal course between the cities while the third proceeds north from Cedar Rapids toward Independence and then cuts over to Waterloo.

Waterloo interests have been organized for some time to push for a diagonal route. They feel the diagonal route best serves the needs of the Waterloo area.

Another group, comprised of mayors and others from Cedar Rapids, Center Point and additional areas met Monday at the Hotel Mealey in Oelwein. This group has organized to push for the north-south route.

Sen. Tom Riley of Cedar Rapids, the chairman of the committee, which calls itself the ad hoc committee for north-south location of I-380, set the tone for the Monday meeting.

"Not Best"

Riley told the approximately 100 business men who packed the meeting room at the hotel, "There is a controversy involved in this matter. Make no mistake about it."

U.N. Fund Cut Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight to slash America's money to the U.N. for expelling Taiwan was shaping up in the senate Tuesday with more advance votes lined up against it than for it.

Sen. James Buckley (Con-R-N.Y.) announced immediately after the U.N. expulsion vote Monday night that he is drafting legislation for a "major reduction" of the U.S. financial contribution.

"This will do no more than reflect a major downgrading of the U.N.'s role in the eyes of most Americans," Buckley said.

Buckley and 20 other senators issued a declaration last month that the U.S. should "reassess its financial and moral support of the U.N." if Taiwan was ousted, but 32 senators issued a letter Monday denouncing a fund cut.

"Played for Sucker"

Sen. Peter Dominick (R-Colo.) charging America was handed the defeat after paying 35 percent of the U.N.'s support, joined Buckley's drive.

"We're being played for a sucker again," Dominick said, "and I for one am not willing to play along with it."

Senate and House Republican leaders Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Gerald Ford of Michigan issued a statement over the weekend saying the U.N. could not expect the degree of its present U.S. support if it expelled Taiwan.

But the 32 senators repudiating Buckley's cut included

Republican National Chairman Robert Dole of Kansas and all four major potential Democratic presidential contenders — Edmund Muskie of Maine, Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, George McGovern of South Dakota and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

"It seems to us inappropriate," they said, "for such pressures to be linked with American participation in an organization which offers so much potential for building the generation of peace which the President and all decent Americans yearn for."

Meeting To Be Called On Apartment Project

The Cedar Rapids city council Tuesday agreed to arrange a meeting to clarify — and hopefully resolve — a tangled problem regarding a southeast side apartment complex being developed by the Bjornsen Investment Corp.

The meeting was decided upon after the council had hashed over the matter for the second week in a row, without reaching a solution.

At issue is a building already begun by Bjornsen on the strength of a building permit apparently mistakenly issued by the city's building department before the council had approved the building's location on the apartment complex site. The complex — the Regency apartments — is situated on the south side of First avenue E, between Twenty-third street and Thompson drive.

Footings for the building in question already have been poured some 30 feet closer to Twenty-third street than the council desires.

The error was first brought to the council's attention last week by an attorney for the developer. He was again present Tuesday, saying: "Every day that we can't proceed (with construction of the building) it's a bad deal."

The attorney contended the city should allow the firm to proceed because of the error that occurred in issuance of the permit; because the contested location of the building was not that different from a plan already approved by the council, and because the right of the council to determine the specific location of the building seemed a moot point.

Change Too Great
Mayor Donald Canney replied, however, that the location of the building represented too great a change from original plans to permit the council to approve it.

"It would certainly not show good faith to the people concerned," he said, noting that the project had been controversial at the time of its original proposal two years ago, and had been worked out as a compromise between Bjornsen and surrounding neighbors.

Has Authority
As to whether the council has the authority to bar construction of the building at its present location, Canney believes it does.

"Shall we try it?" he asked. The attorney responded that the builder does not want to become involved in such a legal test, but contended that the city did not make it clear when the property was re-zoned that such matters would require council approval.

"I think you're putting in some rules that we didn't understand when we agreed to it," he said.

Meeting Suggested
A meeting of all interested parties — including surrounding neighbors — was finally suggested by Public Improvements Commissioner Richard Phillips.

"I don't know if the rest of the council is as confused as I am over this," he said, "but I think it would benefit everybody if we could all sit down and go over it."

"I think maybe we're discussing something that can be resolved."

The meeting will be held as soon as possible, hopefully within the week.

Council Favors New Design on Pedestrian Bridge
The Cedar Rapids city council Tuesday gave a second review to preliminary designs for a pedestrian bridge to be built next year in connection with widening of Mt. Vernon road SE.

Designs submitted to the council last week by Shive-Hattery and Associates, architectural consultants for the project, had been criticized as not imaginative enough. The firm was asked to produce an alternate.

Tuesday's version was okayed and referred to the Iowa highway commission for its approval.

To be located across Mt. Vernon road near McKinley Junior high school, it features a concrete span, with a sloping ramp at one approach and a spiral ramp at the other.

The portion traversing the roadway itself will be enclosed with a chain-link mesh.

Estimated cost is about $50,000 — or $10,000 to $15,000 more than earlier proposals.

Half of the cost of the bridge will be paid through federal highway funds.

Hardesty Named As President of St. Luke's Board

Marshall G. Hardesty was elected president of the St. Luke's hospital board Tuesday to replace the retiring president, Joseph W. Riley.

Hardesty, a board member for eight years, has been treasurer of the corporation. He is vice-president and treasurer of Iowa Electric Light and Power Co. and is completing a term as president of the Cedar Rapids-Marion Chamber of Commerce.

He also is a past president of Cedar Rapids Rotary club and United Community Services, and is a director of Meth-Wick and a trustee of Cornell College.

Other officers elected Tuesday were Joseph F. Hladky, jr., first vice-president; Paul E. Geiser, second vice-president; J. Forbes Olberg, treasurer; Joseph W. Riley, assistant treasurer; Glenn G. Johnson, secretary; and Dr. Leonard Deaver, assistant secretary.

Other members of the executive committee will be Robert examined the body at University hospitals, where an autopsy was performed Sunday night, said she suffered massive damage to the frontal lobes and back of the skull. He said bullet wounds from a small caliber weapon were the possible cause.

The doctor also noted that the body appeared to have been in the water "within a short time after her disappearance."

Search for Items
Sheriff Spurrier said authorities are searching for a black knitted poncho that the dead woman was wearing and a green army-type poncho that she was carrying at the time of her disappearance. Her body was clothed, but her brown boots also were missing.

"If we find these items they may provide us with some idea of where the body was dropped," Spurrier said. Anyone finding items of clothing should notify the Iowa county sheriff's office at Marengo or the Cedar Rapids police, he said.

On the night of her disappearance, Mrs. Streed had finished work at the American Optical Co. in Cedar Rapids and was to hitchhike to Iowa City to join her husband, Ronald, a student at the University of Iowa.

There was no trace of her again until a youth hunting in the millrace area spotted her body Sunday evening. Scuba divers from Marengo searched the millrace Monday, but apparently no evidence was found.

Services for Mrs. Streed, who lived at 112 Seventh street SW, will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Teahen chapel.

Meanwhile, near Oskaloosa, officers said more shell casings have been turned up near the spot where the body of Karen Ann Goers, 23, was found Sunday morning.

Mahaska County Sheriff Dave Reese said Monday night that four .22 caliber shells were found by use of a metal detector during the day.

Investigators had previously found two spent shell casings and an unspent cartridge.

Miss Goers' body was found Sunday morning in a ditch four miles northeast of here after a search party had been organized by friends of the family.

Reese said the woman died of an undetermined number of bullet wounds to the head.

Miss Goers was last seen alive about 3 a.m. Friday, reportedly getting into a car driven by a man in downtown Oskaloosa.

"We're not holding anybody," Reese said Monday night. "We don't have a thing on it yet in that respect. We don't have any suspects."

Miss Goers was a waitress in the Iowa cafe in Oskaloosa, owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Goers.

Officials said the young woman had worked in the cafe late Thursday night and had closed it up, taking the receipts home to her parents before she disappeared.

The body of Miss Christensen, 18, was found Oct. 17 on the bed of her three-room apartment in Storm Lake. Officials said she had suffered a blow to the head and had been strangled.

The body of Maureen Farley, 17, of Cedar Rapids was found in Cedar Rapids Sept. 24. She had died of a fractured skull after receiving a blow to the head.

Hearings To Be Set on I-380 Route Proposals

AMES — Highway commission Planning Director Carl Schach Tuesday said he expects informational sessions on the location of interstate I-380 between Cedar Rapids and Waterloo to be held in late November and early December.

Schach said the planning department is tentatively thinking about Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 1 and 2 for meetings at Waterloo, Independence, Vinton and Cedar Rapids.

He had hoped the meetings could be held earlier but additional time was required for preparation of maps and assembly of other information for the public meetings.

"We want feedback from the public on the location of the interstate," Schach said. "There may have been things we overlooked in our study. I'm not talking about just opinion but factual information."

The commission has studied seven possible routes and has selected three as the best — the so-called Independence dogleg route, the Raymond alternate and the diagonal route which would cross the Cedar river at three different points.

CARE Project

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — The U.S. relief organization CARE has signed an agreement with the provincial government to build 30,000 low-cost cyclone-resistant houses in the storm prone delta region of East Pakistan. The three-year project will cost an estimated $3.3 million.
