Germany Faces A Dissolution Of Reichstag

(Continued from Page One.) through his influence with the president. Papen, however, gradually won the heart of the 85-year-old president and held marshal. No Chancellor enjoyed the degree of affection and confidence that was given Papen. When the president finally ousted Papen at Schleicher's request, he presented Papen with an autographed photograph bearing the inscription, "Ich hatte keinen Kameraden," or "I had a comrade."

Papen's unpopularity with the masses caused his removal and his "all monoco" cabinet stood little chance of survival in the reichstag. Hindenburg dropped Papen because general hostility to his policies engaged immediate danger of a general strike, and possibly civil war.

Papen resigned, but retained the president's confidence. He mobilized anti-Schleicher forces, including numerous industrialists and big land owners and the followers of nationalist leader, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg.

The president's alienation from Schleicher was said to have been caused by Schleicher's failure to shield close political friends and advisers of Hindenburg, including East Prussian land owners such as Elard Von Oldenburg, Januschian, against the attacks of socialists and catholics in the reichstag. The land owners were accused of deriving undue profit from the program of subsidization of East Prussian agriculture.

The choir offered several musical selections singing "My Task" which Betty Howell was escorted. She was also given a wrist corsage by the outgoing worthy advisor, "You a Wonderful Mother" was sung when Mrs. Pollock was installed and the choir leader on behalf of the girls gave her a bouquet of flowers.

The services were preceded by a dinner. Toasts were given by the following: Georgene Hintz, to the Worthy Advisor elect; Betty Howell, a toast to the officers, after which she presented all with a rose; Lola Mohler, a toast to the Rainbow board; Darlene Pollock, a toast to the Mother Advisor elect, after which she presented the members of the Rainbow board in an informal manner. At 4:30 o'clock a delicious tray lunch was served. In two weeks the club will meet for a 6:30 farewell dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cousins, 419 Second Avenue NE.

Councilman Clyde E. May, who did not approve of the statue in the first place, is leading the movement to break the contract with Miles.

"Miles wants $10,000 to begin chiseling 'Lo, the poor Indian,' may be barred. 'The unemployed and destitute, who need the money, will be the ones who really will be chiselled.'"

"Who criticizes should know whereof he speaks," if the reply of W. H. Oppenheimer, commission member. "A public building must typify the faith and aspirations of a community and the Miles statue of an Indian smoking a peace pipe is not only a symbol of peace, but also a command peace."

Peace in this battle was far, however, from the mind of P. W. Pedersen, spokesman for the earlier Veterans' contract.

"I'll filibuster on the glass statue until this Indian issue is a good Indian issue—in other words dead—with the council," Pedersen said.

Meanwhile the council, which approved installation of "the world's fastest elevators" in the new city hall, marked time on the glass issue and adopted an ordinance increasing the permissible speed in a second so the elevators will of elevators from 759 to 1,999 feet have a chance to live up to their reputation.

Humphries Gets A Year Sentence

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(UP)—Murray Humphries, dapper gangster who reputedly stepped into Al Capone's place as underworld chief and became Chicago's public enemy No. 1, faced a year in prison today.

Smiling sarcastically, Humphries, who claims to be "an honest business man," heard a jury in municipal court return a verdict finding his dignity on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Hearing on a motion for a new trial was set for Feb. 4.

During the speedy trial and jury deliberations of 55 minutes, Humphries protested that he was not a public enemy and that he was "given a bad name by the Employers' association because of my union connections."

"But I haven't the slightest doubt that the supreme court will reverse the decision," he added.

Humphries was arrested Nov. 1 with several known gangsters in a raid on a loan business office.

Rob Bank Messenger At Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 28.—(UP)—Police and a citizen posse today were in close pursuit of three bandits who at 11:00 A. M. intercepted a girl bank messenger on a downtown north Kansas City street, shot her guard, and fled with loot estimated at $14,500.

The holdup, was undertaken in broad daylight as the girl, Miss Dorothy Jolly, carried the money in a cardboard box from the post-office to the bank.

In the running gun fight which followed, two of the bandits were believed wounded, two citizens were cut by flying glass as the men fired into stores along their route, and the guard, Edgar Nall, a city marshal, was shot through the right thigh.

Miss Jolly, a stenographer at the National Bank and Trust Company of New York, Kansas City, was within a few feet of the bank when the bandits seized the money.

Stamp His Rostrum

The phrase "stump speaking" originated in early days when the stump of a tree was used as a platform by the political orator and as a pulpit for the traveling preacher. In pre-revolutionary times the padre on horseback frequently found no other cathedral in which to hold services than the wide-open spaces dotted with tree stumps. Like the politician he spoke from a stump.
